Relay Bicycle Race Will Start From Pittsfield-Local Riders Chosen.

In an article in the Pittsfield Eagle a few days ago it seemed to think that the proposed relay bicycle race between the Y. M. C. A. of that city and the local association would fall through because of disagreement in regard to the place of start. This is all changed, however, and the local riders have given in, and will start from Pittsfield. The North Adams wheelmen are auxious for the race. It will take place Monday July 5. The race will begin at 8 o'clock in the morning and the teams will start in opposite directions. It s probable that the following riders will ompose the North Adams team: Pittsfield to Lanesboro, Jarvie and Powell, Lanesboro to Cheshire, Powers and Schultz; Cheshire to Adams, Powers and Dennett; Adams to North Adams, Isabell and Haskins; Pittsfield to Lenox, Wells and Martin; Lenox to Lee, Bartlett and Rice; Lee to Stockbridge, Graves and Henderson; Stockbridge to Great Barrinfiton, Vadnais and Taylor; Great Barrington to Sheffield, Watson and Under-

WAS A PROCESSION.

Cornell Won Second 'Varsity Race Without Half Trying.

COLUMBIA SECOND BY 11 LENGTHS.

Pennsylvania Boat Foundered at Second Mile.

half of Pennsylvania he would have to decline to accept the offer, and that i Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 3 .- Cornell won, Columbia second about 111/2 lengths to the near, while Pennsylvania floundered just after passing the two-mile mark. The official time Cornell, 20 minutes, 47 4-5 seconds; Columbia, 21 minutes 20 2-5 seconds. All of the expectations of those lovers of American sports that by establishing new records Pennsylvania and Columbia would be emittled to demand admission into what promises to be an intercollegiate rowing combination of three colleges-Yale, Harvard and Cornell-have been rudely shattered. The contest on the Hudson iast evening, which had been hetalded as promising a close and ex-clting finish, and which each colleg-cuach declared would be a record-break-ing contest, turned out to be the merest sort of a procession and an apology for t race.

It is true that the water conditions were not favorable to fast time and that men like Dr. Peet and other boating experts alleged that it was not the proper time to start a race, but it is also true that having once started the chances were certainly about equal for each crew The lightest crew on the river and the one less likely to be able to stand that swells caused by the wind blowing against the tide, came out of the contest an easy winner and only slightly behind the record of Yale last week when she finished second in the 'varsity contest with all the conditions in her favor.

The heaviest crew in the race, Pennsulvania, found its boat washed full of water before the second mile was reached and after passing that point was compelled to retire from the contest. The next heaviest crew, Columbia, bravely heralded as a rough water crew, was so fearful of results from the same cause that it lost many lengths steering in-

In some respects the contest was pitiful. Cornell, the winner of two previous contests, the victor over Haivard and Yale, had been led to believe that Pennsylvania and Columbia would put up a harder fight than its contestants in the other races. To the contrary, the Cornel, crew rowed over the course in the easiest kind of manner. Columbia struggled on in the rear, losing length by lenght, while rowing a much quicker stroke than Cornell and finally, after crossing the line, found themselves almost incapable of any further work. As if to exhibit her prowess and her wonderful husbanded strength, the Cornell coxwain turned his boat around and rowed up a mile and a quarter above the finish to salute poor, defeated Penn-sylvanua, and then returned to the boat-

The Procession Starts. There was really no race to describe, at least not after the second mile. During the first three-quarters of a mile the contest was rather pretty. Penn-sylvania took the water first with a quick, jerky stroke, Columbia following and Cornell hanging to the rear. At the quarter of a mile Pennsylvania had a lead of one-half a length over Co-lumbia and Columbia one-half a length over Cornell. Pennsylvania was, however, splashing badly, No. 7 in particular hitting the water every time on his feather. At the half mile Pennsylvania was rowing 34 and Columbia 33, while Cornell with her 32 stroke was decreas. ing the lead. 'At the three-quarters of a mile, Pennsylvania had three-quarters of a length still over Cornell, who had pulled on beyond Columbia for about half a length. It was here that the trouble seemed to begin in the Pennhalf a length. Sylvania boat.

Just prior to the starting of the race the steamer Tremper of the Albany and Newburg line came down the river as the boats were lined up, and although warned by the referee and the police boats would not step. The swells that she made were blown back by the south wlad, and the local referee, Harris S. Reyrolds, started the crews while the swells were more theorem. swells were running, though Coach Ward of Pennsylvania protested against starting. When Cornell's boat, on the outside, hit them they were long swells and the shart boat cut them in two, converting them into a choppy sea, so that when they hit Pennsylvania's shell they swashed over the side.

It was here that Cornell's clever rowing was in evidence, for while the beautiful form of that crew kept the oars from touching those swells during the feather, the Pennsylvania oars hit them with so much force as to throw part of them into the boat. By the time the crews had reached the mile and a quarter, the Pennsylvania boat was lumbering along filled almost to the gunwales, but the men continued bravely pulling, although falling far behind Columbia, who in rowing inshore to avoid the swells, had lost considerable distance to Cornell. From a mile and a half down the ludicrous procession began.

Cornell's boat went along against the lead wind as if it had wings, while Columbia's crew pulled along violently, losing nearly a length in every quarter of a mile. Pennsylvania splashed along slowly going to the rear until the two mile and a quarter point was reached when Coach Ward came around in the Ben Franklin and took them aboard. That Thirty-Two Stroke. From that time on the race practically pie along the shore. Cornell's rythmical 32 swing carried it along at an excellent pace, although the shell had taken in some water, while Columbia rowed a 33, but with indomitable pluck struggled along to catch her with a precision that was exasperating. The Cornellians drew away from the Columbia boat until at the bridge there was at least 10 boat lengths between them.

It was here that the Columbia crew made a desperate effort to spurt, but ly increasing the stroke put a little more back and leg work in ard carried their beat another length and a half ahead of the white and blue, crossing the line an easy winner.

To the pitiable fizzle of the afternoon there was one bright side and that the true American sportsman spirit was displayed by Cornell. On the referee's turned to Mr. James Bond of Pennsylrania and said

ONE CERTAIN DUTY TOMORROW.

Sunday will be Independence day, the idist anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and Monday will be the legal holiday in Massachusetts,-the day of the fire-cracker and the small boy's champion holiday.

It seems to us that there are some advantages in having July 4 come on a Sunday. Of course the grand racket and general hullabaloo of this jubilee day of the nation must be put off for a few hours, and colebrating the day after is never like celebrating the day itself. But the noiseloving public easily adjusts conscience to this change. And then, too, the enforced quiet of the Sabbath may lead some thoughtful few to con over the meaning of the day and drink of the spirit of '76. All too much the American peo-112 forget their national traditions. They hero worship far too little. In the hurry of the present the glories and lessons of the past are forgotten. The sacrifices made in 1797 by our Revolutionary fathers are not recalled in 1897. The dollar looms big and all-important before most of us, and in the pursuit of it we are quite apt to forget past and future alike, and both are important.

row. Let the Bible lesson go tomorrow, if necessary, to read the Declaration of Independence. God inspired the Declaration of Independence no less than the Bibl. He was with the American people entering upon their great era of liberty 121 years ago no less than with the Jews thousands of years ago. In all the history of the Jews there is no scene or assemblag, of men comparable to that gathering in Independence hall, Philadelphia, July 1, 1776. So we say that the Declaration of Independence, that great psalm of liberty, that grand philippic against tyranny, should be read in church and home and everywhere in this broad land tomorrow, and its lessons learned anew in the pulpit and on the platform and wherever there is a gathering of American citizens.

The Declaration of Independence is none of us should do less than to reverently and thoughtfully read it from the first word to the last.

OUR CHURCRES AND POLITICS.

The New York Evening Post recently gave rise to a rather interesting discussion which attracted the attention of a number of periodicals devoted to religion, by propost ig to form a "Society for the Decrease of the Ministry." It was contended that the pulpits were overcrowded and that the surplus of preaching talent resulted in an undignified scramble for places. Short term pastors, it was alleged, were growing, as a consequence, and modern church life was rapidly descending to a parely commercial basis. It may be doubted if the ranks of the ministry are more crowded than those of other professions, notably that of the law, but it is possions. mere crowded than those of other professions, notably that of the law, but it is possioned in that the chief cause of the discontent which is said to provail among those who are without the reas to be found in themselves. That there are too many clergymen of a certain kind is unquestionably true, and it is not singular, as they may deem it, that they are unemployed. In numerous th at they are unemployed. In numerous in tances they were not equipped by the Creator for the calling which they have of sen, and they are a trifle smaller in cathore than the smallest house of worsh, and they are not successful because their views of the duties meanment upon the mare erroneous. There is room in the world for religious instructors, but they a not religious instructors in any sense of the term. They deal chiefly with economic subjects and politics.—Fall River

True enough. There is too much economics and politics preached, and the C. C. C. is surely an excellent remedy, and spiritual mission of the preacher too often novadays sunk in the clerical political orator. More and more the pulpit seems to be inclined to deal with problems not in its field and to ignore things spiritual.

We do not wish to be misunderstood as saving that the pulpit does not have a legitimate right in the discussion of public questions. It can and should have a great induence for good in the settlement and disposition of public questions. But there is a tendency on the part of many pulpits to overdo the matter. Too many sensational sermons are preached taking of the character of the stump oration or legislative speech. There is the danger of the spiritual being replaced by the secular. Some ministers seem to feel that every question of public interest demands their expressed pulpit judgment and awaits their overpowering decision.

The fact is; most men go to church for religious purposes. They do not go to hear the broll of six days of the week continued on the Sabbath. If the spirisumption. C. C. C. is sold at 50 cents;
tual side of man, the soul, cannot have three times as much, $1.

oneday, or at least the church hour of one day, for its own distinctive affairs and self introspection, then indeed the spiritual times are hard.

Then, too, the average pulpit occupant is not so much wiser than the rest of the world as to matters of public concern. As arnle his experience in these matters is narrow. His congregation probably contains men who know far more about what he is trying to discuss than he does. It does seem that the religious field, with all its great truths, is broad enough for the average minister to roam in. Its truths and teachings will touch enough on matters of public concern and even politics without his making special effort to go outside of his accredited field.

Furthermore, if anything is clearly certain today, it is that the pastors and churches who stick closest to the religious and spiritual are the strongest and will be increasingly strong. Men do not want their religion and politics and economics mixed. The church must remain the religious church. Let the minister and the economist and the politician keep within their respective spheres.

Read the Declaration of Independence tomorrow. Don't go to church till you have done it. The many friends of James P. Magenia in this community will extend to him their sympathy because of a considerable illness that has fallen to his lot since he has taken up his duties in Boston as a revenue officer. The good news comes that he is now better and may soon be seen again at the Boston custom house.

DUGGAN'S DANCING RECEPTION.

A Very Pleasant Event in Division 4 Hall Friday Night.

A very pleasant social event occurred Friday evening in Division 4, A. O. H. hall on Eagle street when James Duggan's dancing school pupils held their closing reception. The hall was tastefully decorated with bunting. About 50 couples were present and all expressed themselves as having had an enjoyable time. Dancing was continuous until 2 o'clock. Music was furnished by Roscoe's orchestra. Mr. Duggan is to be congratulated on the successful termination of the lessons, which have been given for the past two months in St. Jean Baptiste hall. It is expected that a similar class will be formed in the fall.

CATARRH CURED!

And in North Adams, Too: Full Report of the Case.

Mrs. E. R. DeWitt, 108 Eagle street, North Adams, says: "Since a severe cold about a year ago, I have had catarrh in the head very badly; the slightest exposure to cold caused me to catch cold, and in fact my head felt all the time as though I had a fresh cold and it was very annoying. The dropping into my throat was continual, and kept me all the time hemming to clear the throat. I got a bottle of California Catarrh Cure at Burlingame & Darbys', and since using it, I do believe I am entirely cured; at any rate I have not been troubled any with colds or any of the previous symptoms for several weeks most heartfly recommend it," California Catarrh Cure is especially pre pared for treatment of the mucous membranc. It allays the inflammation, checks the disease and arrests and repairs the decay of this delicate lining. It is a curative agent for colds, coughs, hay fever, bronchitis, asthma, and all purely mucous affections. Use it during and after a cold, and you will never have a cold hangs on or ever reach the catarrhal stage. When catarrh is once firmly fixed in the nasa passages and throat it begins to attack the mucous membrane of the passages leading either to the lungs or to the stomach. The result of the former cause is ultimately consumption, of the latter what is commonly called some form of indigestion or dyspepsia. It is catarrh of the stomach, intestines, kidneys and various internal passages. California

Grand Army Hall Contained a Very Pleasant Party Friday Evening.

The young people of this city keep on having the pleasantest of dances. Friday night they had a most enjoyable one in Grand Army hall. The program gave no nformation as to who thought it out, who managed it or anything else. But it was good dance, a pleasant, free-spirited affair without the least formality or straining for effect. The program said it was a subscription dance and, for a wonder, hadn't a long list of patronesses-the conventional patrolmen.

There was just half a half full of happy people, who danced away with all the

eter was as high in spirits as the young people and the young women had a perplexing time of it to look after skirts and fans and handkerchiefs at the same instant. It was pleasant to dance through the air and enjoy the artificial breeze but the young gentleman paid for t when the orchestra stopped by shaking fans to the sacrifice of stiff collars and neat looking shirt bosoms. But the young women didn't seem to mind it. They tossed their hair back, shook their handkerchifs as if there was semething cooling in them, looked as rosy as mirth and exercise could make them and then paid generous attention to the lemonade dished out by the statuesque little colored boy, who moved nothing but his eyes and the dipper. There was bountiful supply of very tempting cake, but no one wanted it, at least until quite

The music was very fine, nothing better could be desired. It was rendered by the Schubert Orchestral club and was praised without limit by the dancers. The music vas just as much alive as the young people -it wasn't dead and everybody wishing it was hurled. It was appreciated too. Time and again the insatiable dancers would hang by the floor and insist on nore music. Applause was the second order of the evening, the first one being the order of dances. Another very creditable and highly en oyable dance has been added to the long list of such events belonging in the worthy social record of this social city.

No Bonfires Allowed.

The police have been instructed to prohibit the firing of large cannon and the building of large bonfires within the fire district limits during the Fourth.

The Foresters know a good thing when they see it. They will sell exclusively at the fair grounds at their field day next Monday the "Western Gateway" and "Alderman," Flaherty's fine hand-made and home-made 10 and 5-cent cigars.

the way in which the walk on Park street in front of Clark & Liversidge's millinery store is left. It has been newly concreted and a fine job was done, save the way in which it is left. A ridge fully two inches high extends about 15 feet and is in the same place where Mrs. Griffin of Pittsfield was injured and for which she sued and collected damages of the town. This time it is on John L. Barker's land and he wil be held responsible. For the cost of couple of dollars it can be fixed and John had better attend to it.

The Best Yet.

Another of the series of dances of the Assembly club was held at Forest park pavilion Friday evening, and those who 40 couples were present and the pavilion was opened so that the cooling breezes perfect for dancing. The music by Palmer's orchestra was as usual very fine and all enjoyed themselves immensely until a few hours after midnight.

Monday Will Be Quiet.

Indications are that the celebration of the Fourth in this town Monday will be very quiet. Nothing special is going on here that day and it is probable that nearly all will be out of town. The Foresters and Alerts will be in North Adams and the Father Mathew society will go to Daiton. No hing but the small boy and his firecrackers will be left to keep the town awake.

Mr. Sampson will move out next week and the work of tearing down the old house and building the new one will begin at once. It was said that the wife of Secretary Seward of Lincoln's cabinet was born in this flouse, but such was not the case. The story grew out of the fact that Mrs. Seward, whose mother died when she was a little girl, was cent with a young sister by her father, who lived in Central New York, to live with their grandmother in a little house which stood a short distance south of the Sampson house, and which was torn down a number of years ago. In after years, when Mr. Seward was governor of New York, Mrs. Seward visited Williamstown and erected in the upper

Sons of Temperance Were Not Organized Friday Evening as Expected.

PITTSFIELD ORGANIZERS PRESENT

But the Persons Whose Names the Grand Lodge Representative Got Down on His List Stayed at Home. Only a few Attended.

A representative of the grand lodge of the Sons of Temperance has been in this city for some time making an attempt to establish a lodge here. Ho has been able to secure quite a large number of names of prominent temperance men on his list. All was thought ready for organization Friday evening. Organizers McGinnis and White were up from Pittsfield to form the new lodge, but there was disappointment in store for them. There were very few present out of the whole, long list of signers Among those present were Dr. H. J. Millard, Royal Whitney, William A. Ashman and George Braman. The result was that organization was indefinitely postponed The meeting was held in the small and almost unknown hall in the Hoosac Sav ings bank block. About two years ago a Sons of Temperance fizzle occured in this city. Much the same plan was adopted for the establish ment of a lodge, organization was accom plished and the movement died there. Another meeting was never held.

SAY, FURNITURE MUFFERS.

If You Mean to Play Ball be on the Corner Monday Morning.

W. V. BURDETT, Esq.:-We learn this morning that your aggregation of furniture ball-muffers and air-sawers has become completely demoralized as the bour of baseball battle approaches. You are showing every sign of complete and undving terror. We don't blame you any for that. You have hunted up our batting averages and have learned the stuff of which we are made. But don't crawl out of it at this late hour. Everlasting and walloping defeat is preferable to retreat in face of battle.

Get your nine ready. The keg of "arnica" for third base has been secured. The ambulance trolley car is in readiness. Be on the Adams National bank corner, Main street, to take the So'clock car Monday morning for the field of your slaughter. We, the certain victors, will do you the honor to ride on the same car Bring your own stretchers. Play the men now and face the music of our cracking bats and home run cannonade. CIRCUS AND MINSTREL SHOWS.

The Fliats Performance Tonight Three Nights More in this City.

The Flints, hypnotists, gave a very aughable performance at Columbia opera house Friday night. The one-ring circus was put on and furnished no end of musment. The spectators laughed till they could laugh no longer to see townsmen act the part of old circus performers and do feats that would make their heads | years of joy. swim in their normal state. The minstrel show, companion piece to the circus will be put on tonight and it is said to be funnier than the circus. The Flints will remain at Columbia opera house for three nights longer, ending their engagement next Wednesday evening instead of tonight.
